SHELLS RIDDLE THE PALACE

Rebels Turn Heavy Guns on Federal Stronghold
---Business Section of City in Ruins.

Scheme to Crush Rebel Army Is Nipped in the Bud.

ARTILLERY DUEL CONTINUES

Leader of the Uprising Reported to Have Demanded the Surrender of the Federal Army and the Palace. Marked Advantage Gained by the Rebels On the Fifth Day of the Struggle.

Mexico City, Feb. 14.—General Diaz gained important advantages, after another 12 hours of artillery fighting in the heart of a half-ruined city. The rebel commander is advancing his batteries toward the national palace, which he has shelled continuously. The Madero forces have received repulses all along the line of fighting. It is said Diaz has demanded the surrender of the federal army and the palace.

Hundreds were killed and wounded in the fifth day's storm of lead and iron. The fighting was more sanguinary than on Wednesday. General Huerta again dared a frontal attack on the Cuicadela and was hurled back with heavy losses. Federal infantrymen were destroyed by the amazingly accurate machine-gun fire directed by General Mondragon.

General Diaz immediately followed up his advantage by planting batteries in practically all of the strategic points that had been occupied for three days by the Maderists. Diaz's red flag is now flying in the Avenida de San Francisco, the principal approach to the national palace.

Activity of Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador, removed at least 1,000 Americans, including many women and children, from the fighting zone. These are quartered in the American embassy in the Colonia Roma, a mile and a half southwest of Diaz's fortress, or in private houses. Most Americans are, however, without funds on account of the closing of the banks.

There was an unverified report that four Americans had been killed by the explosion of a shell in the Methodist Church South. So far as can be learned only one American was injured. R. M. Meredith, manager of the National Cash Register company, was hurt when a shell burst in front of the Hotel Jardin.

That Diaz had prepared for the threatened overwhelming movement by the government, which Madero promised would be carried through, was shown by the fact that he had stationed sharpshooters on the roofs of adjoining buildings, had dispatched a force outside his lines to the west of the city and had placed his heaviest guns in positions commanding all the approaches to his stronghold.

AMERICANS ATTACKED

Two Officers of the Cruiser Denver Mobbed at Acapulco.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Ambassador Wilson's dispatches have shown that all Americans injured in Mexico City thus far really have themselves to blame for their wounds, with the possible exception of the two unfortunate women killed in their apartments by a shell.

SAD STORY OF TREK TO POLE

SCOTT'S DIARY TELLS THE TALE

Harrowing Experiences Encountered On Trek From Pole.

STORY CARRIED TO THE END

March Back Hampered by Accidents to Two of the Party of Five, by Blizzards and Lack of Fuel and Rations, Every Counce of Food Used Before Death Ended All — Positions in Which Bodies Were Found.

London, Feb. 14.—A dispatch from Christchurch, in telling the story of Scott's trek to the pole, says that Lieutenant Evans and party left Scott on Jan. 4, 1912, to continue their march to the pole. They went along on an average of 12 miles a day to their destination, which they reached Jan. 17. They were about 156 statute miles from the spot in 87 degrees 35 minutes, when Commander Evans turned back.

The first day at the pole, according to the diaries, was cloudy. With the sun obscured, the next day as clear and the sun was visible. Lights were taken. Captain Scott used a four-inch theodolite. This was different from the course of Captain Amundsen, who used a sextant with an artificial horizon, but the location of the pole by the Norwegian and English explorers differed by less than half a mile, and thus both of them practically located at the same spot. Captain Scott's observations gave latitude 89 degrees 59½ minutes (90 degrees being the pole), and his party accordingly marched an extra half mile by sledge motor and there planted the Union Jack.

According to the story, the journey back over the great polar plateau was marked by a series of good marches in medium weather with the temperature averaging between 20 and 30 below zero. Fossil-bearing sandstone as well as coal in some quantities were collected.

Captain Scott's Diary.

Captain Scott says in his diary that the failure of Seaman Edgar Evans dated from the time of reaching the pole. He had been the cause of considerable worry to them on the plateau, and then when they were coming down the glacier and were among very rough ice he fell and hurt his head, sustaining a severe concussion.

While marching along on Feb. 17 Evans' foot worked out of his ski shoe and he was compelled to remain behind to readjust it. The party continued, and when it was found that he was not following them, camped and started to cook a meal in the hope that he would reach the camp by the time it was ready. He did not show up and they went back and found that he had collapsed. He had made a brave attempt to reach camp but had failed. He was placed on a sledge and died a natural death two hours from the camp. This delay, as Captain Scott said in his diary, greatly weakened the party and made inroads on their surplus supply of provisions, and kept them back seriously. The

JAMES GINMAN

Prominent Republican of Athens, O., After State Position.

[James Ginman seeks appointment as Republican member of the proposed State Liquor License Board.]

SALIENT FEATURES ARE NOW AGREED ON

Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—Salient features of the liquor license bill which have been agreed upon by the subcommittee of the joint house and senate committees indicate a victory for the wet forces on the question of the selection of license commissioners.

The committee has agreed to the bill to permit the governor to name a state commission of three members who shall, in turn, have the right to appoint county commissioners. It is understood, however, that the members of the county commissioners is to be cut from three to two and made bipartisan.

Senator Greenlund, chairman of the senate temperance committee, has been selected to draft the new provisions in proper form. The measure will be made a special order probably for Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

As agreed upon the bill is said to have the warm sanction of Governor Cox. It is said to contain features both of the wet and dry bills submitted to the assembly.

Plan Urged on President

Washington, Feb. 14.—Mediation in Mexico, rather than intervention, by the appointment of a Pan-American commission, was urged upon President Taft, Senator Cullom of the foreign relations committee and Representative Flood of the house foreign affairs committee by John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union.

The commission, which, it is suggested, should seek to bring about a readjustment of Mexican affairs, would be composed of a statesman from the United States, an eminent Latin-American diplomat now in Washington and an influential Mexican.

The mediation proposal was made after conferences with members of the senate and house and following renewed assurances from the state department that there is no present intention of departing from the established policy of dealing with the situation in Mexico.

MISS ROOSEVELT ENGAGED

Announcement It Is Rumored Will Be Made Sunday.

New York, Feb. 14.—The announcement of the engagement of Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, is expected soon. Although the fact of the engagement was confirmed, no names could be learned, but it was said that the announcement would be made Sunday. About a year ago a rumor linked the name of Miss Roosevelt with that of George Palen Snow, Harvard '04, of this city. At Mr. Snow's home it was said that he was not engaged to Miss Roosevelt, but that she was engaged to some one and that the announcement would be made Sunday.

Another Boat Hits Big Pier In Ohio

Gallipolis, O., Feb. 14.—Another accident occurred at Dam 26 when towboat Robert P. Gillham, accompanied by the D. T. Lane, collided with a cofferdam, sinking three barges of coal belonging to the Campbells Creek Coal company of Cincinnati. River men pronounce the new cofferdam at Dam 26 a menace to navigation.

Mrs. Baker Gets Divorce.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 14.—Insolvency Judge Warner granted a divorce to Lucile Lawson Baker from former State Senator Baker, with restoration to her maiden name and $100 a month alimony. He dismissed the cross-petition of the defendant. Baker will appeal the alimony feature of the decision. Both parties alleged gross neglect of duty.

Four Buildings Burn.

Steubenville, O., Feb. 14.—Fire that started in the Huffman opera house and hotel basement at Amsterdam, this county, destroyed the Huffman block and three other two-story frame buildings, entailing a loss of $30,000. The buildings were occupied by three saloons. Several other buildings were damaged, all in the business part of the town.

QUITS FIRST OF MARCH

President-Elect Wilson's Retirement From Governorship.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 14.—President-elect Wilson announced that he has fixed upon March first as the date of his retirement from the governorship of New Jersey. He expects that before that date the legislature will have enacted into law the chief measures recommended by him. He heard that his corporations bills had gone through the senate without amendment and his best information is that they will not be seriously opposed in the assembly.

Crescent, O., Feb. 14.—The remains of two men ground to small bits and scattered over a distance of a mile was the gruesome discovery made by section men along the tracks of the C. L. & W. railroad. Identification is impossible.

HOUSE FAVORS DEATH PENALTY

Defects Measure Which Sought to Minimize It.

WOULD PUT CURDEN ON JURY

Senate Passes State Emergency Bill After a Number of Items Had Been Savagely Attacked — Proposal Providing For Torrens System Made Special Order For Next Week, Legislative Proceedings.

Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—If the vote by which the Kennedy bill was defeated in the house indicates the attitude of a majority of its members toward the issue, it is not likely any action to change the law providing for the punishment of persons convicted of murder in the first degree will be taken at the present session of the assembly.

Representative Kennedy's measure would make the penalty for murder in the first degree imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, "unless the jury trying the accused recommend 'without mercy,'" in which case the punishment shall be death. The law now reads that punishment shall be death, unless the jury recommends mercy.

A valiant fight for the passage of the measure was waged by Representative Kennedy, who said one of the chief objects was to place the burden of fixing the death penalty directly upon the jury, and to make jurors consider cases more seriously.

Mr. Kennedy denied the measure would abolish capital punishment, but admitted it would minimize it to a great extent.

The bill of Representative Reid of Fayette county, providing for the guarantee and registration of land titles under the Torrens system and to facilitate the transfer of and dealing with real estates, was made a special order of business for Tuesday afternoon.

Not during the present session has any measure received such a lambasting as was given the state emergency appropriations bill, which carries allowances of $215,000 to pay deficiencies in state departments authorized by the state emergency board. The board authorizing the expenditure is composed of Governor Harmon, Attorney General Brown, Auditor of State

VISITS WALSH AT HIS HOME

Grand Jury Probing Graft Case Hears Captain's Story.

New York, Feb. 14.—The extraordinary grand jury which is investigating graft conditions in the police department, in the persons of 17 of its members, visited Captain Thomas W. Walsh and heard the confessing captain's testimony against Inspector Sweeney and certain other officials of the department. The captain seemed to be considerably improved and showed no effects of the quizzing. Captain Walsh gave the district attorney the names of other collectors who had operated for him beside Policeman Fox and also gave the names of two or three persons who, he said, had paid protection money to a policeman not in Walsh's employ.

GOWAN'S

King of External Preparations is easily the popular remedy in the home. Because it is a remedy that is entirely absorbed, carrying healing qualities to the affected parts. This Gowan's does, adding no extra weight in cases of congested lungs. When Pneumonia threatens the light application does the work.

Mothers talk it; mothers buy it; and mothers use and loudly sing its praise. Have a bottle in the home. Feel secure. When the doctor is delayed you can be at work. He cannot object to the external application. The seal of public approval is a large part of GOWAN'S reputation. Colds, Croup, anything where congestion or inflammation needs subduing GOWAN'S has been tested and never found wanting. Take nothing else; demand GOWAN'S—your druggist has it.

I have used Gowan's Preparation for Pneumonia with consent and assistance of physicians. I believe I owe my life to its prompt effect.

AMERICANS FORCED TO FLEE FOR LIVES

Cowardly Mexicans Under Madero Place Guns in Front of the American Consulate and Draw Fire of Diaz Batteries.

Special to Herald.
Mexico City, Feb. 14.—Madero today moved his heavy guns to a point directly in front of the American Consulate where Americans were sheltered, and they were forced to flee for their lives before the Diaz batteries replied in that direction. The American Consulate building is believed to be doomed. This action upon the part of Madero is expected to cause the United States government to take more drastic action than ever before.

Makes Speech Before Solons

Hon. Humphrey Jones was before the Ohio Legislature Thursday in defense of the Torrens Land System bill, meeting arguments offered by W. A. Gule, representative of the Guarantee Titles company.
The House resolved itself into a committee of the whole with Representative Reid of this city presiding. Mr. Jones is author of the constitutional amendment, and explained in detail the workings of the Torrens system, dwelling upon its proposed benefits. Mr. Gule devoted himself to pointing out alleged defects, which he said were both numerous and serious.
The final hearing was postponed until next Tuesday.

Some Changes At Postoffice

On March 4th, when the shorter hours for postoffice clerks take effect, some radical changes will be made in the local office, which will mean the office will be open shorter hours.
Postmaster Culhan is now engaged in preparing a schedule for the local office, to comply with orders received from the Postoffice Department at Washington, D. C., and hopes to have it ready within the next few days.
Under the new postal ruling it will eliminate to a great extent the confusion resulting from boys and girls applying at the delivery window for expected letters.
In Hillsboro the office lobby closes at 7:30 under the new ruling.

QUIT CALOMEL!
Thousands Are Turning from This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.
Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.
His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.
The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.
They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They oil the bowels, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.
They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities. 10c and 25c per box.

"COLDS"

Caused by Lowered Vital Resistance. What To Do For This.
It is a well known fact that when a person is run-down, stomach out of order, or the system overloaded with waste matter, vital resistance is lowered and colds and coughs are easily contracted.

The safest and surest method we know to overcome this condition is by taking our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. In the most natural manner Vinol tones up the digestive organs, promotes a hearty appetite, enriches the blood and creates strength for every organ in the body and as a specific for chronic coughs, colds and bronchial troubles Vinol is unexcelled.
Mr. Albert Porter, of Richmond Hill, L. I., says: "All winter I had a bad cold and a cough which I could not get rid of, and was badly run-down besides. Vinol was the one remedy which cured my cough and made me well in every way."

READY IN THE FULLEST
By Doc Waddell

It is sacred to keep watch of those in the winter of existence, to see them as lovers, hand in hand and heart to heart, to hear them tell the story of wedded life, of purity and sacrifice. A couple such as this was Henry and Anna Highmiller. Better husband and father never lived. He died five years ago. The wife and mother was taken by a stroke of apoplexy at Springfield last Sunday. The end came at the hour of morning when the bells pealed invitation to worship. It was as she had requested in her daily prayers to God. She was ready in the fullest. Her age was 67—"three score and seven" of obedience, duty and forbearance. Her children were splendidly taught and trained and reared. Those that survive were left a heritage of precepts beyond value.

When a mother dies it seems to me the hills and valleys and streams and springs, that Nature all, stands still long enough to mourn. There is no loss so great, so irreparable, as that of mother—best friend, she of sweetest smile at birth, your dearest companion on the journey of earthly vale, and the Savior's chosen comforter when the chill of death is on your brow.

The dead of whom I write this tribute loved children intensely. To the very end she was in their atmosphere. To be with them was heavenly communion for her. She evidently treated them with full thought of the Bible phrase: "Suffer little children to come unto Me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

This tried and true and trusted woman, this treasured mother possessed of many lovable traits, was laid to rest in soil of Waterloo by side of husband and son and of those she knew and who knew her so well in the spring and summer of it all.

Let's ever preserve record of her goodness, purity and love. Let's trail fragrant vines and wreath roses rare and on the inscribed marble of her resting place, to those who look upon and read it, speak volumes in the one line: "The Grave of Mother."

The deceased has two brothers and one sister living, Samuel Holby, of Columbus; Joseph Holby, of Mt. Sterling, and Mrs. Dan Cork, of Bainbridge. Her children surviving are, William Highmiller, of Washington C. H.; Mrs. Henry Lucksinger, Harold Highmiller, and Mrs. Clyde Parker, of Springfield, and Mrs. Effie Mae Waddell, of Columbus.

Every spinster believes that his satanic majesty is a married man.

Bill to Abolish Death Penalty Fails to Pass

Fullington and the chairman of each house of the last general assembly.
Senator Mooney of Auglaize county declared that many of the items of expense were not legitimate emergencies and never should have been allowed by the board. He demanded that action be taken to curb the power of the board, even if it were necessary to terminate its existence. As the money already had been spent and the integrity of the state pledged as security, there was nothing left but to pass the measure. This was done by a vote of 22 to 10.
Limiting the length of legislative sessions to 90 days and extra sessions to 30 days, is the purport of a constitutional amendment which will be offered for the general approval of the people this fall, if a resolution presented by Senator Hillenkamp of Toledo is adopted. Extra sessions must be confined to work recommended by the governor.

The Troubadour's Amusement Co., brought here under the auspices of the B. P. O. Elks, No. 129, entertained a nice audience Thursday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The orchestra played an enjoyable concert program, their numbers interspersed with recitations by the company's readers, the first part of the evening, and followed with a ball room orchestral series.

The Troubadours are especially proficient in their dance music and their waiters and two steps were beautifully played and provided incentive for a gay dance, which ended at midnight.

There were guests in attendance from Frankfort, Mt. Sterling and Jeffersonville.

RIFLE DISCHARGED BULLET ENTERS FOOT

Mr. Joseph Hidy, a well known farmer residing in the Staunton neighborhood, suffered a very painful wound Friday afternoon when a target rifle he was carrying was accidentally discharged and the bullet plowed through the fleshy part of his right leg below the knee and buried itself in the instep of his foot.

Mr. Hidy was out in the field at the time, but relief arriving he was soon at home and shortly after a physician from this city was examining the wound.

He was taken to the Fayette hospital where it was found necessary to use an X-ray to locate the ball and remove it. Mr. Hidy suffered intensely from the wound.

Jury Finds For The Defendant

After several hours spent in considering the evidence in the case of John T. Harbine against Elmer Allen, the jury Friday about noon returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The cause for action was over a note issued to the Live Stock Remedy Company calling for $263 and alleged to bear the name of the defendant. The note was purchased by the plaintiff. The defendant claimed that the signature was not genuine.

EMBARASSING SITUATION.

The dignified, unassuming, careful and thoroughly conscientious manner in which President Taft is dealing with the very trying crisis which the later complications in Mexico, have brought about, is reflecting great credit upon his administration.

The Mexican situation has reached the acute stage. Foreigners have been outrageously treated in Mexico and American citizens seem to have borne the brunt of the outrages. A less patient man in the White House would have plunged this nation into war with the southern republic long ere this and been fully justified in such a course in the eyes of his fellow countrymen and by all civilized nations.

Of course we all know—or should know—that the president cannot declare war. That formal act is exclusively within the jurisdiction of Congress but the president is clothed with such comprehensive powers as the head of the army and navy, to act in emergencies that only the coolest judgment in times like these keeps us out of trouble.

The president is seriously hampered by the fact that in less than three weeks his administration will be ended and another whose plans and views may differ radically from those he holds, will be in control.

President Taft has, it seems, done about all he can do in getting the army and navy into shape for instant service and leaving the rest to Congress.

The Mexicans need to be subdued and by this nation too, but President Taft does not desire to plunge the nation into war and then turn the administration over to his successor.

The hot-heads who are inclined to be impatient with the President's so-called inactivity, should weigh well the circumstances. When they do so, it is hardly likely that full credit will be withheld from the administration for the course now being followed.

War with Mexico is much more serious than many enthusiastic patriots seem to realize. Not only is the trouncing of Mexico quite a little job in itself but there are so many complications with other nations, liable to spring from it that too much caution right now would be less serious, more easily forgiven than too much haste.

President Taft in this, as in other trying situations which have arisen during the closing months and days of his administration has proven himself—a broad-minded man, a good loser, a thorough gentleman, an absolutely honest official, desirous of serving his country best, aiding and not hindering his successor in the public service and thoroughly patriotic.

Not as spectacular, perhaps as some, his last services to the nation are every day, increasing the number of his admirers.

Jingoism is foreign to President Taft and that in these days is wholesome.

These closing days are but the concluding feature of an acid test such as few presidents have been called upon to endure. Few, indeed are the men who could have stood the test better.

He may be fully trusted in this crisis to do as he has in others, meet it squarely and deal with it unostentatiously, but honestly and wisely.

Education Should Arouse Men to Do Their Very Best

By Professor EDWIN G. CONKLIN of Princeton University

WHAT IS NEEDED IN EDUCATION MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE IS SOME MEANS OR SYSTEM WHICH WILL TRAIN THE POWERS OF SELF DISCOVERY AND SELF CONTROL. EASY LIVES AND SO CALLED "GOOD ENVIRONMENT" WILL NOT AROUSE THE DORMANT POWERS.

It usually takes the stress and STRAIN of HARD NECESSITY to make us acquainted with our hidden selves, to rouse the sleeping giant within us.

How often is it said that the worthless sons of worthy parents are mysteries. With the best of heredity and environment they AMOUNT TO NOTHING; whereas the sons of poor and ignorant farmers, blacksmiths, tanners and backwoodsmen, with few opportunities and with many hardships and disadvantages, BECOME WORLD FIGURES. Probably the inheritance in these last named cases was no better than in the former, but the ENVIRONMENT WAS BETTER.

"Good government" usually means easy, pleasant, refined surroundings, "all the opportunities that money can buy," but LITTLE RESPONSIBILITY and none of that self discipline which reveals the hidden powers and which alone should be counted good environment. Many schools and colleges are making the same mistake as the fond parents. LUXURY, SOFT LIVING, IRRESPONSIBILITY, are not only allowed, but are encouraged and endowed, and by such means it is hoped to bring out that in men which can only be born in travail.

Poetry For Today

LONGEVITY.

There was a man who had to work
So hard, day after day,
In order to make both ends meet,
He found no time to play.

He never did take exercise,
He lost a lot of sleep
And often let his feet get wet,
Because his shoes were cheap.

His meals he shoveled in so fast
It caused profound surprise.
And when he'd gorged himself a while
He finished off on pies.

He smoked cheroots, 'bout ten a day,
And sometimes even more;
When people said, "You'll kill yourself,"
He never did get sore.

Year after year this careless man
Kept up his rapid gait;
His reckless habits clung to him—
Not one would be abate.

To laws laid down for living long
He lightly gave the lie;
When these were named you might have seen
A twinkle in his eye.

He looked on all the doctors as A most deceptive crew
And when he shuffled off at last
His age was ninety-two.

Commissioner of Corporations In Report Shows Grasp of the Lumber Industry—Three Railroads Own Area as Large as England—Government Still Has Rich Alaskan Holdings.

Washington.—The concentration in the hands of a few powerful interests of an enormous percentage of the timberlands of the United States has created a problem so grave, in the judgment of Luther Conant, Jr., commissioner of corporations, that he recommended to President Taft that the existing national forests be increased as far as practicable.

This note of warning was sounded by the commissioner in forwarding to the president the full text of part 1 of the bureau of corporation's investigation of the lumber industry made by direction of congress. A summary of this report, showing the extent of concentrated control of timberlands, was sent to the president and published nearly two years ago.

In the summary previously published the then commissioner of corporations, Herbert Knox Smith, set forth that the Southern Pacific company is the greatest private holder of timber in the United States, controlling 100,000,000,000 feet; the Weyerhaeuser Timber company, with 96,000,000,000 feet, the second largest, and the Northern Pacific Railway company, with 36,000,000,000 feet, third.

The full report declares that the following five interests control in the aggregate 102,000,000,000 feet of timber, practically all located in the Pacific northwest.

Companies controlled by Charles A. Smith of Minneapolis.

Thomas B. Walker of Minneapolis. Concerns in which N. P. Wheeler and W. E. Wheeler of Endeavor, Pa., are the chief stockholders.

Companies in which the A. B. Hammond company of New Jersey is the principal interest.

The timber interests of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railway company (subsidiary to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company).

After enormous sales, the commissioner points out, the Southern Pacific, the Northern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe owned together 33,500,000 acres of timbered land and non-timbered lands, an area as large as England.

The Amalgamated Copper company, Mr. Conant adds, owns over 1,000,000 acres of timbered land and more than 100,000 acres of non-timbered land, all in Montana, and Thomas B. Walker personally owns 700,000 acres in California.

The government still owns, exclusive of the forests of Alaska, about one-fifth of the country's total supply of merchantable standing timber. To increase the government's holdings the commissioner urges that the forests of Alaska be included in the reserve, as well as all timbered lands recovered in forfeiture suits. He advises a further searching inquiry into the Northern Pacific and other land grants of the past, with the view of instituting additional forfeiture suits if the facts justify the procedure.

Sad Story of Trek to Pele

surface, owing to the lateness of the season and the fall in temperature, became like sand.

These low temperatures which were complained of by Captain Scott in his diary are said to account for the slowness of the progress of the party over the barrier. The average distance between the depots was 65 miles, which, without allowing for bad weather, meant that the party must average over nine miles a day. The fuel and food at each depot gave full rations for this rate of progress. For a week, however, the best march of the party on the barrier was approximately nine miles, and at late stages it fell as low as three miles.

Death Ends Struggle.

This falling away in the rate of speed was undoubtedly due to the condition of Captain Oates of the Inniskillen dragons, whose hands and feet had been frozen and who was constantly growing worse. He was a constant drag on the energies of the party and was rapidly weakening them. They had to face continual winds and frequent blizzards, and finally the hopeless nature of the outlook was forced upon them.

Surgeon Atkinson's searching party found the death tent, 11 miles from One Ton depot, on Nov. 10, 1912. It was half covered with snow. The sledge of the party, with its gear, was completely covered with snow. The tent was well spread and the inner tent was in place on the poles. When the bodies were identified the inner tent was placed over them. A large cairn of snow was erected and a cross placed on the top of the cairn.

Every ounce of food had been used long before death came to Scott, Wilson and Bowers, and only a small quantity of tea was found in the tent. The relieving force found the bodies in these positions: Captain Scott was in a sitting posture with his back to the tent pole. Between his head and the pole he had placed his diary, with the apparent intention of using its broader surface to provide an easier support than the pole itself. Wilson and Bowers were lying in their sleeping bags.

If possible an expedition will go to the Antarctic next summer to recover the bodies.

REAL GOAT GETS GOAT OF A GREAT MATADOR.

New York, Feb. 14.—The great matador, Enriquez Rigas, has lost his goat. It was butted out of him by a real goat on the Spanish liner Manuel Calve. The Calve carried many goats. They were confined in big crates. In the moving one crate broke. The goat charged up and down the decks, chasing passengers and crew. Some one called the heroic Rigas. "Ah," they said, "see the matador. What is a goat to him, the slayer of a bull?" Enriquez Rigas took a contemptuous attitude before the goat and raised his hand to command the attention of the on-lookers. The goat, a long-whiskered buck, shot between his legs, whirled and with a mighty butt struck the matador just aft of the after hatchway. Senor Rigas was knocked 10 feet along the deck.

AN UGLY COMPLICATION HANDLED IN JIG TIME BY MILITARY PROMPTNESS

SOUND RIOT CALL TO OUST MINERS

Disturbance in West Virginia
Capitol Quickly Quelled.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 14.—A series of important developments marked the coal strike situation. In the coal fields under martial law, 25 miles from here, the militia was using stringent measures to stamp out violence, while in this city it became necessary to sound a riot call to curb a demonstration started by a number of miners in the state building. The halls were quickly cleared by the police.

Warrants were served out for Mother Jones, well known in labor circles of the country; C. H. Boswell, editor of a Socialist paper, and Frank Bartley and Paul J. Paulson, said to be connected with the international organization of miners. They are charged with conspiracy and accessories before the fact in the death of Fred Bobbitt, one of the victims of a recent riot near Mucklow, W. Va.

Wholesale arrests were made in the coal fields, where a military court convened today.

Cannons Still Hurl Missiles of Death

Dispatches from other parts of Mexico indicated that the upheaval in the city is having its effect on conditions in other parts of the country. An outbreak of anti-Americanism was reported from Acapulco, where two officers of the United States cruiser Denver were attacked by a mob in the street. The officers were Surgeon C. B. Camere and Ensign Edwin Guthrie. Neither was injured. Consul C. S. Edwards in his report of the affair stated that conditions in Acapulco are very bad, and that open threats against Americans are being made.

From the border came reports that rebels were marching on the city of Juarez, opposite El Paso, Tex., and that they had burned the town of Diaz on their way.

The burning of towns and attacks on trains and destruction of railway bridges is reported by Consul Holland at Saltillo. Train service with points south of Saltillo has ceased.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Colonel Bryant's Compensation.
Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—Colonel E. S. Bryant, Bloomdale, O., who superintended the construction of the half-mile road improvement at Camp Perry, admitted before the Gregory joint legislative committee probing National Guard expenses that he had received $1,555.59 for his work, in addition to compensation for serving on the state armory board at various times. It is said that members of the committee have adduced enough evidence to show that loose methods prevailed in the conduct of the guard and that extravagant expenditures were made in many quarters.

Switch Engine Hits Motorbus.
Lima, O., Feb. 14.—Sixteen men were injured, one perhaps fatally, when a Gramm Motor company's factory motorbus was struck by a switch engine at a grade crossing. Clyde Ward, driver of the motorcar, was taken to the city hospital unconscious. Physician declare he can not recover. The others, all foremen of the Gramm factory, were cut and bruised.

Girl Shot While Alive.
Delaware, O., Feb. 14.—That Mildred McFarland, 18, was killed last October in Detroit while resisting parties against whom she had purchased a revolver to protect herself, is the belief of the mother, following an autopsy, when it was found that a 32-caliber bullet entered the girl's body while she was still living, and not as a blind for an earlier crime.

Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—There is no time limit governing signatures to petitions under the initiative and referendum, according to Attorney General Hogan. Signatures secured in 1913 will be good on petitions for a referendum vote in 1914, according to the attorney general. The opinion was given to women interested in suffrage.

A Poem For St. Valentine's Day

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

SING of the parrot of Mary Ann Brown,
Which bird has achieved more than local renown
Because of the sentence suggestive it squalled
At every friend or acquaintance who called,

The same being taught by the coy Mary Ann
For reasons we'd better not too closely scan.
But spiteful ones said in the quest of a man.
Maids, matrons and swains by Poll's statement were harried,
"You'd better get married."

It may be the lady who, I must relate,
Was born at a distant and uncertain date,
With numerous summers and winters behind her,
Concluded that suitors might need a reminder.
At least, so it worked in a specified case,
Which story a subsequent spasm must grace,
This one being now near the jumping off place.
Still Polly, mid squawkings nerve racking and varied,
Cried, "Better get married."

Bill Jones was a man with a void in his life,
Who'd already buried one overworked wife
And, needing some one to look after his brood,
Was in a receptive and Barkis-like mood.
Bill hadn't admitted this point, be it said,
But brain cells that lurked in the back of his head
Were ripe for suggestions that altarward led,
Such hints as that parrot bird's formula carried,
Of "Better get married."

When Fate has two cases as ripe as were these
He makes the connections and turns on the keys.
Fate had in this instance a helper, the same Being Mary Ann Brown, who, to help on the game, Sent Polly to Bill on St. Valentine's day.
Bill, searching around for the right thing to say,
Cried "Polly want a cracker?" the usual way.
This thrust conversational Poll deftly parried
By "Better get married."

That word had the touch psychological. Bill Scratched his chin as he murmured, "By gravy, I will!"
He posted that night to see Mary Ann Brown,
And now the report has spread all over town
She soon will be Mary Ann Jones. * * * Learn by this,
O maids of all ages whose hearts pant for bliss,
A parrot well trained might not come in amiss
To suggest, amid squawkings ear splitting and varied,
"You'd better get married."

THE HEART OF TOMMY.

Th' teecher sez I've got a hart,
But teecher's off her trolley.

Once on a time I had a hart,
But now it's owned by Molly!

A Valentine Kiss.
"A kiss upon this Valentine
I press," he wrote to her.
"I've placed it underneath this line.
I hope you won't demur."
"I do not want the kiss you sent,"
She answered; "not at all!
But just because it was well meant I'll keep it till you call."

A MODEL VALENTINE.

It Can Be Read Crosswise, Up and Down or Backward.

Here is a model valentine said to have been written by a young Englishman to his sweetheart. The curious feature of this valentine is that it may be read from left to right, from above down and in several other directions, crosswise and back, making fair sense almost any way a person chooses to read it. It is as follows:

Your face, so fair,
First bent,
Mine eye,

Mine eye, To like,
Your face, Doth lend,

Your face, With beams,
Doth blind,
Mine eye,

Mine eye, With life,
Your face, Doth deed,

O face, With frowns,
Wrong not,
Mine eye,

This eye, Shall joy,
Your face, To serve,

Your tongue, so sweet,
Then drew,
Mine ear,

Mine ear, To learn,
Your tongue, doth teach,

Mine ear, With hope,
Your tongue, doth feast,

O wit, with smart,
wound not,
mine heart,

this heart, shall swear, your wit, to fear,

St. Valentine and Cupid.

The real St. Valentine flourished about 1,700 years ago. Cupid, who is really more important in celebrating St. Valentine's day, is several hundred years older. Yet Cupid is always pictured as a youth, while St. Valentine is depicted with the dignity of a gray beard.

Rhea Reid,
a rose of the type of the American Beauty, but of the easiest culture. It opens its large flowers perfectly under all weather conditions, its colors varying with the temperature, from a bright cherry-rose to a rich crimson and scarlet.

Champion of the World, a vigorous grower, delightfully fragrant and almost invulnerable against the attacks of insects. An ever-blooming rose of rich glossy pink.

Bessie Brown,
a rose whose beauty has taken the country by storm. It is strong growing, free blooming, and one of the finest roses in cultivation. The large flowers, highly built and double, are creamy white in color, with a pale and tender flesh tint. It is highly scented and a magnificent rose in open grounds.

Mme. Abel Chatenay,
a glorious bedding rose with rich bright foliage. It is strong, healthy and a profuse bloomer. Borne on long stems, the flowers are large and full, with recurved petals, shaded rose-vermillion.

Helen Gambier,
this is the famous yellow garden rose. The buds are full and firm, lasting a long time when cut. As the flowers expand depths of golden yellow are revealed, with a combination of tints and tones unequalled in beauty.

These plants were rooted early last spring and will be shipped from 3-inch pots direct to you. Such plants would ordinarily cost more than $1.00. During the remainder of this month we will offer them as follows:

MAN ARRESTED FOR CRIME COMMITTED ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Abner Bowen, Alias Albert Jefferson, Arrested on Barger Farm in Green Township.

TRIED TO SLAY FRIEND
BY STRIKING WITH AXE

Was Taken From Bosom of His Family By Minions of the Law, Who Had Traced Him for Years. Confesses That He Struck Man With an Axe—Faces Long Term in West Virginia Prison.

"You are ours at last, Bowen," were the words which greeted the ears of Abner Bowen alias Albert Jefferson at his home on the Isaac Barger farm in Green township, this county, as the captain of the Huntington, W. V., police laid his hand upon the shoulder of the man and placed him under arrest for attempted murder of a friend eleven years ago.

"You've got the wrong man," was Bowen's reply, but a few hours later he confessed to the crime and will probably serve a long term in the West Virginia state prison for a crime which caused his best friend to lay in the hospital at Huntington for three years, and who will be an invalid for life.

Eleven years ago Abner Bowen and Wm. Jordan were cutting timber in the West Virginia mountains and during an altercation Jefferson struck Jordan a terrific blow with his axe, crushing the side of his head and forcing the eyes from their sockets, besides inflicting a horrible gash in the man's shoulder.

When he realized what he had done, Bowen fled, and although every effort was made to locate him, he could not be found until a few days ago the Huntington authorities learned that he was living on the Barger farm in this county, and sent officers after him.

Bowen had changed his name to Albert Jefferson, was married and had several children. But ever since he had blighted the life of his friend and left him in a condition worse than dead, he had been on the lookout for the determined minions of the law, and when he saw the officers coming, he rushed into the house, secured his shotgun and loaded it, making ready to shoot the first man who entered the doorway.

But his wife persuaded him to put up the gun, whereupon he was placed under arrest and a few minutes later had said farewell to the heart-broken wife and children, and was on his way to face the serious charge of attempted murder, whereby his

Axle Breaks Trains Delayed

The breaking of an axle on the engine pulling B. & O. train No. 107, due here at 6:14 p. m., caused a delay of some four hours Thursday night and nearly resulted in a disastrous wreck.

The break occurred at Orient, and the disabled engine was pulled into the siding and left, while an engine from Columbus was secured and the train resumed its journey, reaching this city about ten o'clock.

This is one of a number of similar breaks which have occurred on the road during the past two or three years, and in each case fortune favored those whose lives were endangered, the break occurring while running at slow speed or while in the act of starting from a station.

Will Not Move Shops to Toledo

The C. H. & D. railroad will not move its car shops from Lima to Toledo, as rumor has had it for some little time.

This announcement was made Thursday night by H. A. Treudley, of the C. H. & D., who assured the city council of Lima that the shops would not be moved. The report that the big shops would be taken to Toledo caused the city of Lima to threaten suit to enjoin the road from such action, as an old contract with the city forbids removal of the works

Her Pet Scheme Is Divorce Insurance

Karin Michaelis Strangeland, author of "The Dangerous Age," is back in the United States. She has even more pronounced views on marriage and divorce. Her pet scheme for social reform is divorce insurance.

"Every father should take out a policy for his daughter—the sooner the better—like a life insurance, the policy to mature after a certain term of years," she said.

"In case the daughter marries, the husband should have to assume the insurance responsibility, and from then on it should be regarded as a divorce insurance to be paid only in the event of a divorce.

"While for the father it should be a matter of honor to take out this insurance, it should be obligatory for the husband, and naturally in accordance with his means.

"No premium should be paid after a certain time, for instance when the couple have reached an age in which a divorce seems out of the question. If the "calamity" should still happen, the wife would be rightfully entitled to draw the facial annuity by virtue of her paid up policy.

"It is possible that this idea of mine has great faults, but on the whole it is good and sound, and if it is not carried out this year, nor next year, it will not be long before the immense development in the woman's field will bring it.

"Such a divorce insurance would also morally be of great importance as now many a poor woman, in fear of the outcome of disinclination toward disputes with her husband over alimony, stays married under circumstances utterly disgraceful and harmful for the husband, herself and the children."—New York Evening World.

Can't Get A Fair Trial

James B. Malone, attorney for Dr. Arthur B. Smith, of Springfield, accused of murdering his wife, Florence Cavileer Smith, has secured a number of voluntary affidavits from citizens of Clark county stating that they did not believe that the doctor could secure a fair trial in that county.

These affidavits will be presented to the court Saturday by the attorneys for the defense in support of their motion of change of venue of the case, recently filed.

The fact is tacitly accepted that the change of venue is not accepted from a fear that Judge F. M. Hagan, who will occupy the bench at the resignation of Judge Albert Kunkle, will be unfair or partial, but that the minds of the people have been influenced by the reams of material that have been printed on the case by the newspapers, and that it will be practically impossible to pick a jury which will be able to give an uninfluenced verdict.—Xenia Gazette.

FINDS FISHPOND OF NERO.

Roman Excavator Discovers Reservoir Under Palace Where Fish Were Bred.

Rome.—Professor Boni, who is supervising the excavations on the Palatine hill, has made an important archaeological discovery. Beneath the basilica of the Flavian palace he found two narrow stairways, leading to a "piscina," a water reservoir consisting of five large compartments. It is still intact, covered and well preserved by watertight cement.

The reservoir dates from the time of Nero, when it was used as a pond for sea fish, with the object of breeding exotic fish for the emperor's table.

That the artificial rearing and hatching of fish were practiced in ancient Rome is attested by Pliny, who refers to a fish called scarus, found between Rhodes and Crete, but bred artificially.

PAULINE ON RETIRED LIST.

Taft's Cow Goes Back to Her Old Wisconsin Farm.

Washington.—Pauline Wayne, President Taft's famous Holstein cow, will follow him into retirement March 4. The president called in Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, who two years ago took Pauline to the White House, and gave her back to her former owner.

Pauline has not been in the best of health in several months. President Taft believes that if she is taken back to Wisconsin and put on Senator Stephenson's farm again her youthful vigor will revive. The senator was glad to recover Pauline, as she had supplied milk to the family of the president for two years, and he thought she would add dignity to his herd.

Must Do Time In Reformatory

Roy Lloyd, who shot and seriously wounded his brother at their home in Jeffersonville and was subsequently indicted for shooting to kill and also to wound, Friday morning changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty, whereupon he was sentenced by Judge Carpenter to serve an indeterminate term in the Mansfield Reformatory, and will be taken to that institution without delay.

Lloyd, it will be recalled, was arraigned Thursday and entered a plea of not guilty, whereupon Attorney Nye Gregg was appointed to defend him. Upon order of the court Attorney Gregg was paid $25 for his services.

HEALTH WARNING.

Make every effort to avoid having damp chilled or wet feet. Chilling the feet results in congesting the internal organs, and inflammation of the kidneys and bladder, with rheumatic twinges and pain in back, generally follow. Use Foley Kidney Pills. They are the best medicine made for all disorders of the kidneys, for bladder irregularities, and for backache and rheumatism. They do not contain habit forming drugs. CUPID'S SPECIAL AGENT

A Story For St. Valentine's Day.

By ADDISON HOWARD GIBSON.
(Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.)

It was the morning of St. Valentine's day, with the joyous brightness which makes the February days in southern California a realized dream of delight. The winter rains and sunshine had coaxed the flowers in the Avery garden into early bloom. Dan Avery noted this as he sat smoking in the open alcove and gazed moodily at the great purple violets and the shy lily of the valley in the ample beds of his brother's beautiful flower garden. He remembered bitterly they were the favorites of the girl with whom he had quarreled after the ball at Mrs. Holden's reception.

"Uncle Dan, don't you know something about hearts?"

Dan Avery turned and looked into the troubled face of his small nephew and namesake.

"Hearts!" he repeated, with a bitter smile. "What do you want to know about hearts, old man?"

Dan junior, about six years old, brushed coaxingly against big Dan's leg as he displayed a pair of scissors in one hand and a large three cornered piece of pink paper in the other.

"I'm trying to cut out a heart," he explained, pushing the paper toward his uncle. "It's Valentine's day, and I want to make a heart for Cynthia and take it over to her house."

"Why don't you buy one for her instead of haggling one out of paper?"
asked his uncle.

"Cynthia likes things her friends make for her best," informed Dan junior.
"That's why I'm making this valentine for her. Yesterday I was very angry with Cynthia, and I didn't mean to send her a valentine. But I'm not cross at her today, and I want to fix up a heart with some pictures I've got and take it over to her house."

"Cynthia?" mused the young man.
"Is she Miss Marvin's little niece?"

"Yes, Cynthia's parents are dead, and she lives with her grandma and her auntie—our auntie," Dan junior explained.

"Our auntie?" quoted Uncle Dan, with a peculiar light in his brown eyes.
"Does Miss Marvin object to your calling her auntie?"

"No; she likes me, Cynthia's auntie does. She says so."

"Does she? I wish she'd like me," sighed the young man bitterly.

"Maybe she would if you'd ask her.
But big fellows like you don't need aunties," he opposed.

"Don't we? What do we need, then, old man?" pinching the cheek of Dan junior.

"You need to get an auntie for me, not an auntie for you," laughed Dan junior, resting his elbows on Uncle Dan's knees and watching the reshaping of the paper heart.

"Will you help me, Dan junior?"

"Sure thing, I'll help you. I'll ask Cynthia's auntie," said the little fellow seriously. "Maybe she—"

"What made you fall out with Cynthia?" asked Uncle Dan, carefully trimming the heart in his hand.

"Oh, she let Clyde sit by her in Sunday school last Sunday. Then she let him walk home with her and carry her red parasol. Clyde's that boy with curls. I don't like to see a boy wear curls, do you, Uncle Dan? It makes 'em look too girly."

"Right you are, Dan junior," laughed his uncle.

"It made me very angry to have Cynthia get so thick with Clyde, but I'm over it today, and I'm going to make up."

"And this paper heart is to be a peace offering," observed Uncle Dan as, having finished, he watched Dan junior inspect his work critically.

Then he printed very carefully round the edge: "I love you. Be my valentine. Let's be friends again."

"I'd like to be friends with some one again," remarked Uncle Dan as his hopeful namesake laboriously finished the printing.

"Did some little girl forget you same as Cynthia did me?" persisted the in-terrogator.

Uncle Dan nodded his head gloomily.
Dan junior drew nearer in sympathy.

"Has she soft yellow hair like Cynthia's?" he inquired.

"Yes," answered his uncle.

"Is she beautiful as Cynthia?"

"More beautiful, old man."

"Does she divide her candy kisses with you?"

"No."

"Cynthia always does!" he announced, with an air of triumph. "Does she kiss you when you make up?"

"She won't let me kiss her," confessed Uncle Dan.

"Don't she love you, Uncle Dan?"

"I wish I knew, kiddo."

"Then why don't you send her a valentine and find out?"

"Thank you just the same, old man, but I don't believe I'll venture that far," returned Uncle Dan. "My little girl loves flowers. What do you think of flowers for a valentine?"

Dan junior regarded the pink paper heart in his hand very lovingly; then

A Large Hearted Valentine.
MY heart is brimming o'er with love.
And it is sent to you from me.
It's no small gift that you receive,
For my heart's large, as you can see.

But, though my heart is mighty big,
It still is growing. Yes, that's true,
Because it swells and swells and swells
Each moment that I think of you.

he looked from the alcove into the garden where the bright February sunshine was opening many a bud on plant and vine.

"I see," said Uncle Dan. "Personally you prefer the heart. But if you'll help me we'll gather some violets and lilies of the valley in the garden. I'd rather send those."

When a large bunch of flowers had been gathered and neatly arranged with sprays of asparagus fern Dan junior observed:

"Don't you think she'll be sorry she made you cross and cranky when she sees that bouquet?"

"I hope to goodness she will," said
Uncle Dan.

"I'm sure she'll love you now if she likes flowers."

"I hope you're right, prophet," laughed Uncle Dan, hugging his nephew gleefully.

"Will you take them to her yourself when I take the heart to Cynthia?"

"I had thought of sending you with my valentine," hesitated Uncle Dan.

"You're my special agent today."

"What's a special agent, Uncle Dan?"

"A fellow who undertakes a very important mission or duty for another," smiled his uncle.

"Well," laughed Dan junior, "I'm a special agent for Valentine's day. But you've got to go with me. Yes, sir," pulling at Uncle Dan's coat. "Come on. Does your little girl live near Cynthia?"

"That's a secret," whispered Uncle Dan mysteriously. "You shall learn presently."

Uncle Dan turned up the street with him and walked directly to Cynthia's door.

"Are you going to wait for me?"
asked Dan junior.

"Certainly. I can't go without my agent, can I?" appealed Uncle Dan.

Dan junior smiled at this display of good comradeship on the part of his young uncle. Then he pressed the electric button on the door, peering anxiously through the glass. Presently the door was opened by a beautiful young woman with eyes just the color of the violets in the box in Uncle Dan's hand.

Miss Edna Marvin's cheeks flushed softly when she met the eyes of the larger caller.

"I've brought this to Cynthia," announced Dan junior, holding up the envelope. "Uncle Dan came along, because it's Valentine's day, and I'm his special agent."

"Oh, I see!" laughed Miss Marvin, recovering from her surprise. "Come in," she invited them.

"Thank you," said Uncle Dan in a strange voice, that made Dan junior stare at him as Miss Marvin ushered them into the sunny parlor.

"Have seats," said Cynthia's auntie.
"Mamma and Cynthia have gone over to the postoffice, but they will be back in a few minutes."

Dan junior looked disappointed; but, seeing Uncle Dan place the box of flowers on the piano stool, he said:

"You ought to see the valentine that Uncle Dan has in that box for his little girl."

"Indeed! I should like to see it," urged Miss Marvin.

"You won't care if I show Auntie

Edna your valentine. Will you, Uncle Dan?" asked the little boy, crossing to the piano stool.

"No, indeed; go ahead," consented his uncle, fumbling somewhat nervously with his hat.

"You see, auntie," the emissary explained. "Uncle Dan was awful blue because his little girl went with another fellow. It made him cross and cranky, but I persuaded him to send her a valentine and tell her he was sorry he fussed with her. I wanted him to send her a heart like he helped me make for Cynthia," he continued, untying the card that fastened the box.
"but Uncle Dan said that might be going too far."

"What did Uncle Dan mean by going too far?" inquired Miss Marvin half mischievously, but hiding her pretty face in the little fellow's fluffy hair.

"I guess he meant he loved her, but was afraid to tell her," speculated Dan junior.

"You have it right, youngster," Uncle Dan laughed nervously.

"If I loved a little girl I'd tell her right out, and I'd kiss her, too," declared the emissary positively. "Uncle Dan says he's never kissed his little girl.
Don't you think he ought?"

"Oh, the lovely flowers!" cried Miss Marvin rapturously as she glanced at the card pinned to the bouquet. Then she hid a very rosy face back of the fragrant bunch as she held it as a screen between her and the larger caller.

"Do you like them, auntie?" asked Dan junior, putting his arms about the pretty neck.

"Violets and lilies of the valley are my favorites," she answered, resting a burning cheek against his hair.

"That's what Uncle Dan said about his little girl when we picked the flowers. Auntie Edna, I wish you were Uncle Dan's little girl; then you could be my really, truly auntie. Why, how red your face is!"

"You're a very, very foolish little boy," she said, putting one finger half playfully over his red lips.

"Well, I do wish it," he insisted, pulling the finger away and holding it in his chubby hand. "I wonder who Uncle Dan's little girl is?" he mused, turning the card pinned to the bou-quet so he could read the name. "Miss Edna Marvin, with sincere regards," he read.

Then he looked very long at his Uncle Dan and back again into the lovely

"I wish you were Uncle Dan's little girl."

flushed face behind its screen of ferns and violets.

"Why," he cried joyously, "you are Uncle Dan's little girl, and he never told me!" Then he pulled his uncle over to Miss Marvin's side and put their hands together.

"Now you can kiss and make up, just like Cynthia and I will," he advised. "That's what we have Valentine's day for," he added wisely. "Oh, there's Cynthia now! I hear her in the yard. I must run and surprise her. She didn't expect I'd bring her a valentine. You don't need me for your special agent any more, do you, Uncle Dan?"

"No, I don't need you any longer, old man. Run away and find Cynthia," he directed as one arm stole unresistantly about the slender figure of Edna Marvin.

BAY LEAVES AID CUPID.

How One May Learn Identity of Future Life Partner.

Do you want to know who will be your future husband or wife? Here is one method of drawing aside the veil of the future. The night before St.
Valentine's day pin a bay leaf to each corner of your pillow and another to the center. Name each leaf for a person of the opposite sex in whom you are interested. Then go to sleep, and if you dream of either of the five that person is to be your valentine for life.

Another more heroic method has been in vogue for hundreds of years. Remove the yolk of a hard boiled egg and fill the hollow with salt. Eat the egg, shell, salt and all, after going to bed.
Then go to sleep—if you can—without speaking or drinking. You will dream that some person brings you a drink, which you will surely want, and that person is to be the sharer of your future joys and sorrows.

Another method in vogue at Valentine parties is for a man to write the names of several girls on slips of paper, roll the slips into pellets of clay and drop them into the water. The girl named on the slip that first comes to the surface is his valentine.

"Ou, aye, I'll tak' a drink o' any-
